SUB-NORMAL YIELD SEEN FOR EUROPE

Recent Shows Not Sufficient to Restore Damage Already Caused

LONDON, July 16.—Heat and drought, which have blighted the fields of Europe, are combining to reduce this year's grain crop sharply, according to reports from the continent.

Light scattered rains recently have improved prospects slightly, and in some nations have quieted the fear of a food shortage next winter. But generally it was held by agricultural experts the rains came too late to bring the grain yield up to normal.

BUMPER CROP

Spain is the only nation offering optimistic crop reports. While Europeans elsewhere were praying for rain, the Spanish farmers started harvesting the biggest wheat crop in the history of the nation. Crop observers estimated about 82,000,000 bushels of wheat will be produced this year, compared to about 62,000,000 bushels last year.

But virtually everywhere else drought and heat have left their blighting effect.

Bombing Wave Spreads Terror Over Austria

Explosions Wreck Mail Boxes, Throw Cities in Darkness: Four Killed in Vienna Clash.

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff
VIENNA, July 16.—A new wave of bombing terror spread over Austria during the weekend, leaving behind cities plungincomplete reports of disturbances elsewhere, and expressed fear that more may have been killed. One Nazi was killed in Vienna Saturday.

The outbreak was regarded as the defiance of Austrian Nazis to Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' latest campaign threatening "ruthless extermination" of his active opposition.

Meanwhile, Dollfuss and his family were vacationing in Italy.

MAIL BOXES BOMBED

Systematic destruction of mail boxes in Graz, Styria, threw the populace into a state of nervous apprehension, as that town used the mails. One box exploded just as it was being emptied by a collector, who was seriously injured.

The director of the federal post office hastened to Graz, where he held a meeting in the picturesque Vienna woods near Kalksburg.

Stricken Miner Crawls To Road; Dies In Hospital

DRUMHILLER, July 16.—Peter Chabane, 41, a miner of East Coulee, crawled on hands and knees from his isolated shack to the highway and pleaded with passers-by to get him a doctor after he had been seriously ill for several days.

Chabane was rushed to Drumhiller hospital on Monday but died the following morning from a complication of disease.

Chabane, a married man with a family in Austria, had lived alone since the mine closed down for the summer season and had attempted to live on his meager savings rather than apply for relief. Friends claim that Chabane was practically destitute when he died.

At his own request, made prior to his death, no religious ceremony

The constitution will be promulgated today.

Jewish Scientist Finds Secret Of Digestible Bran

Breaks Down Most Valuable Part of Wheat to Extract its Food

By RICHARD F. FASSEN

PARIS, July 14.—An epoch-making invention, which may well mean a revolutionary transformation of habits and in the health of all mankind—Mussini calls it the greatest scientific acquisition since the invention of electricity—has been made by a student in the agricultural department of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

The name of this young benefactor of mankind is Ephraim Rahibovitz. He is one of those heroic Hebrew chazalim (who are turning 13 in a

Land of Israel once more into a garden spot "flowing with milk and honey." His invention has to do with something that concerns everyone of us most intimately and for which millions upon millions of men—many vainly alas—pray every day. It is an invention that has to do with our daily bread.

Ephraim Rahibovitz has succeeded in extracting the food value out of that part of the wheat which is known as bran and which was heretofore indigestible. By far the greater food value of the wheat berry is contained in the bran, which is full-charged with energizing and healthful elements. Up till now it was indigestible. By his invention young Rahibovitz has given man the full value of the wheat, something for which generations upon generations, for thousands of years have striven in vain. He has given the world a new bread, which is both 100 per cent of the wheat berry and 100 per cent digestible.

BRAN SHOULD BE SAVED

While most of us prefer white bread and refining and milling processes have, in response to this demand, attained a point of perfection in turning out flour almost as white as snow, it remains a fact that the outer flour the flour the husk, or shell of the berry—the bran—is the one of the richest of all the grain, but we discard it, or at best reserve it as food for the bread to be had in every country.

Of course there is plenty of brown bread to be had in every country, but the more highly civilized man became, the more he insisted on white bread. You may call this a form of decadence, but it remains a fact nevertheless that the more people scarcely know what brown bread is. The peasant peoples of Europe, the Russians, for instance, and the Bulgars and the people inhabiting the Japanese kingdom eat predominantly brown bread, but the bread with a heavy percentage of bran—roughage none of our bakers call it. Bulgarians have the record of longevity in the world. There are thousands of people in that country over a hundred years of age. Nowhere in the world do you see such magnificent specimens of humanity as in Albania, Montenegro, Croatia and Slovenia.

NO FOOD WASTE

No matter how much bran is left in the flour, its operation is wholly functional. As food value bran is nil. For the simple reason that it is indigestible. The digestive organs of the human body are powerless to break up the husk of the wheat berry. Yet within these husks there lies imprisoned the most precious

JOHNSON ASKS U. S. STRIKERS TO ARBITRATE

NRA Administrator Makes Plea at Portland; to Visit Frisco

PORTLAND, Ore., July 16.—An emphatic plea for settlement by arbitration of the Pacific coast waterfront strike was made here Sunday by General Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery Act administrator.

Parties to the controversy "should sit at a table and settle this thing by arbitration," General Johnson said.

He announced his intention of going to San Francisco to study the strike situation.

MONTREAL, July 16.—An incorporated town, without debt or tax, church-controlled, but providing police and fire protection to its citizens and advanced educational facilities—that's Montreal.

Lock, stock and barrel, Montreal is the property of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

Though a local association Montreal is owned by the Southern Presbyterian church.

Coast Mishap

COMOX, B.C., July 16.—M. C. S. Skeena, stationed at the Canadian naval base at Esquimalt, B.C., dragged her anchor during a high wind in Comox harbor Sunday.

She was believed to have scraped bottom. She was riding safely at anchor in deep water last night, however, and was apparently undamaged.

LONDON, July 16.—Gordon Allison Grant, former student of Dalhousie University, is awarded the Best Memorial Junior Fellowship in science, valued at $1,250, according to an official announcement here.

The cells are richly charged with albumin, fat, oil and those unqualifiable things named vitamins, which may perhaps be called the impregnation of the seed, the greatest health giver in the universe and in fact the source of all life.

But we cannot get at these valuable treasures. At least we could not until Ephraim Rahibovitz made its discovery. This man has invented and patented an apparatus for breaking up the impenetrable cells of the husk and liberating their contents for the use of mankind.

In the process perfected by Mr. Rahibovitz there is no flour extraction at all. The dough is composed of the whole grain. This is the revolutionary aspect of the invention. The dough is twice as nutritious as the best flour now on the market anywhere in the world.

Two countries are officially experimenting with Mr. Rahibovitz's invention, France and Italy. The military value of the new bread can easily be imagined especially to our country like Italy and Germany which can scarcely supply their own population with bread when cut off from world-markets which may happen in wartime. But experiments have advanced to such a point that special mills are to be erected in Britain shortly for the manufacture of this real whole wheat loaf. For, so far, no matter what nation we live in, there is no perfect loaf that best possible does not reach until now.

YOU'VE probably heard those express their trust in General Motors in just such words as those.

But what they're saying right now is even more emphatic:

"Look at No-Draft Ventilation. Look at Knee-Action Wheels. Look at the way General Motors developed the idea of streamlining and did it in styles that say beauty as well as speed.

"That's sure calling the turns—and General Motors called all three."

The real admirers of General Motors will point to what's back of all this.

They'll tell you that General Motors built the first Proving Ground—in order to experiment at its own expense, not the public's.

Then they'll point to the "Proving Ground of Public Opinion"—more than a hundred thousand questionnaire booklets sent out each year, to check General Motors' vast engineering knowledge against what people want in their new cars.

And there you begin to see why people have such confidence in anything that General Motors builds.

We might find it easier, and more dramatic, to trust to "hunch"—rather than put our designs to this constant testing and checking. But we believe the public wants its motor cars, as we want our business, built on a sounder foundation.

Germany And The German People

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

About seventy million people in Germany need a commercial or industrial opportunity; that is to say, need something to eat.

Practically all reserves and savings have been wiped out on a national scale; the emergency is one of immediate stark reality.

Commerce is the only remedy; and commerce is in chains from one end of the world to the other. Unless these chains are loosened by voluntary action, there must come a wrenching of the peace of the world.

The Germany from which war indemnities were to be collected has definitely passed away. The present condition is one of seventy million people bled white by the hands of the former German Empire, without any Emperor or any national financial reserves, and without any adequate commercial earning power.

This is in truth a world malady—for which a world remedy must be found as an alternative to another world war.

The trouble is that all the nations of the world are living in a political smog-screen—hoping that something will happen. The non-constructive political elements are in control; the mad belief that a nation can exist on a basis of actively preventing other nations from building up commerce is expounded by the political leaders of the day.

The equally mad belief that one part of a nation can be given special tariff privileges while the other part of the nation is left to starve and beg is also the favorite theme of our present day political medicine men.

International commensurate, in the event of there being such a thing, would suggest that the old basis of fixing international world prices be abandoned and replaced by a buy-and-sell basis under which purchases of commodities will, in each agreed fiscal year, carry a right of return shipments at one-half the ruling tariff rates. This basis is taken because it reduces the tariff to a tax for revenue.

There is no difficulty in measuring longitudes all over the world from the one meridian of Greenwich, England. There would be no difficulty in measuring all international world prices from the capital city of which would offer to sell its products, manufactured and unmanufactured, on a basis of equal return shipments in payment at fifty per cent of ruling tariff rates. This basis is taken because it reduces the tariff to a tax for revenue.

Any nation, large or small, can make this offer to the world without any danger of being swamped by imports; because the preference as to tariff rates, based on mutual sales and purchases, and not on one way trade.

One way trade has produced such world distress that the saving of life and the keeping of world peace, imperatively require that world commerce be changed to a mutual basis. Mutual life insurance companies came into existence by compulsion of necessity; and it is definitely the condition today that return shipments in payment at fifty per cent of ruling tariff rates. This basis is taken because it reduces the tariff to a tax for revenue.

It is difficult to make a Canadian or an American understand that hard times have come upon him because the peoples of other nations are in distress; yet that is definitely the condition today. There is no such thing as a peaceful, prosperous world—half sold and prosperous and half bankrupt and destitute.

What About Men Who Slump After Marriage?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX:—You speak of women taking an interest in their husbands' affairs—reading books and keeping themselves well informed in current events so as not to fall below their husbands' level of intelligence. What about the husbands who do not keep up with their wives, who never read anything but the stock market and the headlines and the comic strips in the papers or a detective story?

Answer:—What is sane for the goose is sane for the gander, and if marriage is to be made a success it is just as important for the husband to make himself an interesting companion to his wife as it is for her to be good company to him.

No doubt there are just as many bored husbands as there are bored wives, and that is what makes domestic life so dull, and why so many husbands and wives slip up of an evening in a slouch so that you can cut it with a knife.

Dorothy Dix
For conversation is likely to run pretty thin if all the husband knows is the grocery list or the stock market, and if he never reads any of the new books people are talking about, or wants to go in for any except the naked ones that are especially purveyed for the busy husband man, and never wants to listen to anything but the radio except the sort of stuff that makes an intelligent woman want to scream.

Of course, heretofore the idea has always been that women, spending most of their time in their own homes, should be interested in tasks and rearing their children and having fewer outside contacts with the world than men, must make an effort to keep up with their husbands. But nowadays, what with the majority of girls staying in school longer than boys, and most women belonging to study clubs and book clubs and having impressed upon them the necessity of trying to improve themselves, the shoe is on the other foot, and it is husbands who have to make an effort to keep up with their wives.

But in any case husbands and wives should try to grow together, to keep step with each other, for it is a tragedy when either outgrows the other.

DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—I am married woman 40 years old. I am real well along in my life. I am too far for him. Please tell me just what to do. A WORRIED WIFE.

Answer:—Go to your family doctor and get him to prescribe a diet for you. If you don't want to do that, then get a diet column in any paper. They all tell you to reduce, but it is much safer to do so under the care of your physician.

If your husband likes 'em thin, you must assure that you have either got to lose your advantage or lose him. Go get busy. A wise wife takes the tip when her husband criticizes her clothes or her figure.

DOROTHY DIX

The registered of pedigree horses numbered 102 and 102 Westchester, 14 and of the 2,567 cattle registered, 1,02 were Kentucky.

The smoke kept rising, far away. A soldier cried, "Well, fight today. The Mummy Men are shooting blanks to scare us if they can. Now, we will try to scare them, too. I know exactly what to do." "I'll mix some bubble water, now, and then I'll gladly show you how to blow some monstrous bubbles."

This left him only one point behind Charlie Gehringer, who had hit .375 in two games. Gehrig's performance was a second-best mark, picking up four hits with three runs in one time. Walker hit only two out of seven, leaving two points behind Gehringer.
